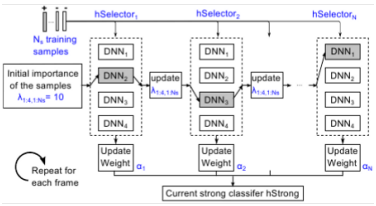
Project Experience

2013.06 ~ 2014.03

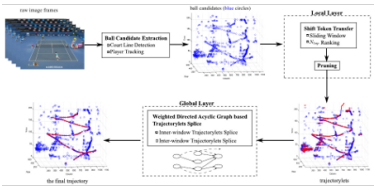
Object Tracking using Deep Learning Technology



We tackle the generic object tracking problem by a novel approach that incorporates a deep learning architecture with an on-line AdaBoost framework. Inspired by its multi-level feature learning ability, a stacked denoising autoencoder (SDAE) is used to learn multi-level feature descriptors from a set of auxiliary images.

2012.04 ~ 2012.12

Ball Trajectory Tracking in Tennis Game Video



A two layered data association method to improve the robustness of tennis ball tracking. At the local layer, a shift token transfer method is proposed, based on shift window processing, to generate a set of short trajectories or "trajectorylets". At the global layer, a unique ball trajectory is obtained by applying a dynamic programming based splice method to a directed acyclic graph consisting of trajectorylets.

2011.05 ~ 2011.12

Towards a Queue-Aware ATM: Monitoring and Managing Queues in front of ATMs

We apply a real-time object tracking approach based on a stereo camera placed in front of ATM machines. With the aid of camera's real-time monitoring, tracking and counting, a queue-aware system is implemented to provide each arriving customer a suggested queue number and estimated corresponding queuing time.

2010.09

Keyword Spotting based Real-time Dialog System

This is a real-time dialog system implemented with keyword spotting approach so as to receive spontaneous speeches from general users. The question-set is predefined by user and can be changed easily, so it's applicable to many specific scenarios with limited question-set running on PC.

2010.09 Keyword Spotting Tool

A Chinese keyword spotting tool which keywords set can be online defined (add/remove) by users easily. This tool receives a spontaneous speech from user via microphone and picks out all keywords defined in the speech. This tool embeds a speech recognition component and all keywords are presented in term of text and Chinese PinYin.
